Weighting Methodology

For this survey, a nationally representative sample of U.S. adults (18 to 29 years old) was selected. 2,123 respondents completed the survey, with 106 interviews conducted in Spanish. Responses were weighted to merge the Spanish-speakers with the overall panel, ensuring correct proportional fitting of Spanish-speaking members relative to other English-speaking Hispanic and non-Hispanic panel members. Data was also weighted to reflect known population density by gender, age, race/ethnicity, education, census region, metropolitan area, and Internet access. These adjustments, while minor, allow for us to draw conclusions about the population of 18-29 year olds, based on our sample.

A word about the sub-samples. The college sub-sample is exclusively those students who reported that they were enrolled in a four-year degree program at the college level. The non-college sample is not currently enrolled in a four-year program but does represent varied educational backgrounds including high school students, community college and 2-year-college students, graduate programs students, students enrolled in other degree granting programs, and students not enrolled in any form of education at the time of the survey.
